About us

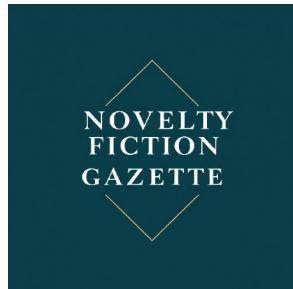

Novelty Fiction is an independent publisher of books, e-books, magazines, audiobooks and more. We are open for submissions all year round, and typically get back to the author with a decision within 4 weeks. Publication offers are issued via email, followed by acceptance via a simple online form.

Our primary goal is to create original, high-quality literary works that readers and reviewers may appreciate. Being a print-on-demand publisher, we guarantee neither sales nor revenue. However, our royalty rates are fair, and free support is available to authors as detailed below.

Depending on the platform, authors may receive a honorarium, a fixed royalty per copy sold or given away, or royalties as a percentage of revenue on sales. Royalties are paid annually. Small advances or free author copies may be provided solely at the publisher's discretion.
